

Dr. Thomas H Gibson, CIA, CFE spent 29 years at Montana State University

- 12 years as Director of Internal Audit for MSU.
- 15 years as University Treasurer and Chief Investment Officer for MSU
- 8 years with the Commission of Higher Education office. Tom was drafted by the Montana University System to develop, organize, and coordinate the distance learning programs of the 13 System campuses along with the pertinent policies and fee structure for the distance learning offerings that included online academic programs at the BS, MS, and PhD levels.
- 10-year MT representative to the Great Plains IDEA (Interactive Distance Education Alliance) administered from Kansas State University. The Great Plains IDEA is a consortium of renowned public universities from across the United States, offering online, flexible, and affordable degree and certificate programs across a range of subjects in human services and agriculture. Great Plains IDEA provides educational freedom, creating rewarding pathways for lifelong learning, career advancement, and community growth in an ever-changing society.

Tom is a Montana native that enjoys his free time pursuing outdoor activities.