

Where can I see a MicroLab in action?

MicroLab has exhibits at 2YC3 meetings, and national and regional ACS meetings. These exhibits are staffed by college faculty from MicroLab's leadership team.

Visitors to the exhibit are invited to participate in experiments, and if materials are available, to design and try out their own experiments.

Prospective customers have often asked us to bring materials for a certain experiment, which they will try out at the conference.

Check the list of upcoming meetings on the MicroLab web home page.

You may also be able to see MicroLab in action at a nearby college or university, or talk with a faculty member at that university. Call us to locate a nearby MicroLab adoption.
